

The Missing Necklace

5C (18) Ting Yi Hang, Lucas

Last week, Ben and Betty went to the park. They were playing happily when suddenly, Betty looked at her accessories. She found that her valuable gold necklace was gone. She felt deep sorrow because she didn't want to lose it. Turning to Ben, she cried, “My necklace is gone!” Ben was surprised. “No! We can't lose it. Let's go to the park office. There's a chance it might be there,” he said.

Then, Ben and Betty went to the park office urgently. There was a tall man with curly hair inside. “Has anyone seen my necklace?” Betty asked. “Describe it,” the tall man said. “It's a gold necklace,” she replied. “No, no one has turned it in. I'm sorry,” the man said. Ben and Betty were sad, so they planned to go home.

After that, Ben and Betty walked through the park to go home, until they saw a suspicious woman in a spotted dress. She was checking to see if anyone was looking. She was gripping and hiding something in her hand. “Excuse me, did you see a gold necklace?” they asked the woman. Instead of answering, the woman ran away. Ben called 999 immediately. Finally, the case was solved and Betty got her necklace back. She was happy and Ben was glad he could help.
