

The Missing Necklace by Lam Hiu Ching

Last week, Ben and Betty went to the park. Betty rode bicycle with Ben. When they went home, Betty found her necklace was missing. Betty said to Ben, 'My necklace is missing. can you help me find it? Ben said, 'Don't worry! I will help you.' They walked back to the park, but they did not find anything. Ben said, 'Let's go to the park office.' Betty said, 'OK'.

Then, they went to the park office. They saw a park officer with short curly hair. He also wore a blue uniform. Betty said to the Park Officer, 'Can you help me find my silver necklace?' The park Officer said, 'I'm sorry. I could not help you find your necklace, because I need to help the lady find her pet dog. Have you seen a white spotted dog?' Betty and Ben said, 'We have not seen this dog.'

After that, they went back to the park again. Ben saw a lady in a spotted dress. Ben said to Betty, 'the lady looked very worried.' Betty walked to the lady and said to her, 'Why do you look very worried? The lady said, 'It is because my dog is missing.'

At last, Betty found her necklace. The lady found her pet dog. I have learnt that we need to keep the belongings well.
