

Ben and Betty went to the park last week. She lost a necklace. She felt sad. She wanted to find it.

Then, they went to the park office. They saw a park officer. He was tall. He had curly hair. He was in a blue uniform. Betty said, 'Excuse me. I lost my necklace. Can you help me find it please?' He said, 'I am sorry. I am busy.' They felt disappointed.

They went back to the park and looked for the necklace again. They looked everywhere. Ben saw a woman in a spotted dress. She was worried. She looked around. She seemed to find someone. Ben said, 'Betty! Look at her hand!'

They walked to the woman. Betty said, 'Excuse me. Can you see the silver necklace with a heart?' The woman said Yes. Finally, Betty took the necklace. Betty thanked the woman. She felt happy.
