

A Day at Funland

Yesterday, it was Grace's birthday, so she went to Funland by the Fun Bus.

First, she got off the bus and looked around. "This place must be interesting," Grace mumbled. She walked inside the Funland and strolled around to get a better look. Then, she saw a tall young man with white hair lifting dumbbells.

She was impressed, so she walked towards him and asked, "Hey! What's your name, and how did you get so strong?" "I am Garou. I train a lot," he replied indifferently. Grace stared at him for a few seconds and left. She was shocked.

Then, Grace went to a model shop and saw a guy with black hair selling models from an anime called 'One-Punch Man'. Grace was interested so she asked the guy, "Hello there, may I get a Tatsumaki figure?"

"Yes, of course," the guy said and gave Grace the figure. Grace paid and walked away. Grace felt overjoyed.

Next, Grace met a tall, pretty woman. She was holding a lot of balloons. Grace walked to her and asked for a balloon. Grace felt satisfied.

It was the best birthday Grace had ever had! She enjoyed Funland so much.