

My Bad Day

6A (4) Cheung Chi Lam, Rain

Last Thursday at midnight, I was watching twenty episodes of cartoons while eating seven bags of chips. When I finished watching the cartoon, it was already a quarter to six in the morning hence I rushed back to bed and slept.

On Friday morning, I woke up with a sore throat after sleeping for about one hour, I felt really unwell but because it was the oral examination that day, so I still went to school for the examination without resting.

In the class, the teacher told us that she would spin the wheel to choose the first student. Unfortunately, the wheel spun on me, making me speak first with a sore throat. Once I got out of my seat, I felt nervous. Later on, when the teacher told me to speak, I couldn't say anything because of the sore throat. Suddenly, the teacher said, 'If you don't say a single word, I will have to give you zero marks and detention.' I felt terrible.

After school, I was the only one who had to stay in school. At six forty-five, I finally got to leave school. Soon when I arrived home, my parents scolded me and grounded me for a month. I felt really upset.
